

Acknowledgements

Though the Division of Aquatic Resources took the lead in developing Hawaii's Statewide Aquatic Wildlife Conservation Strategy (SAWCS), it is the assistance and involvement of many partners, organizations, and interested citizens that made it possible. As a result of the comments received, resources shared, and staff time committed, Hawaii's SAWCS is truly a strategy by and for the people of Hawai'i.

Invaluable assistance was provided by various people and organizations at different stages of the Strategy's development. To everyone involved, a big mahalo for your kokua in developing and contributing to Hawaii's SAWCS.

Dr. Jeff Walters supervised the entire project and offered sage editorial and logistical advice throughout the process. His leadership and understanding was inspirational. Mahalo.

Special thanks go to the following people for consistently offering guidance and support at multiple stages of development, or for going above and beyond in providing information and feedback: Dave Gulko, Skippy Hau, Donald Heacock, Glenn Higashi, Jo-Anne Kushima, Tony Montgomery, David Nichols, Robert Nishimoto, Annette Tagawa, Jeff Walters, William Walsh (DAR); Fern Duvall, Scott Fretz, Dave Smith, (DOFAW); Cheryl King, Dean Tokishi (KIRC); Julie Brock, Chris Kelley, Daniel Rubinoff, Alison Sherwood, Celia Smith (UH-Mānoa); Bruce Mundy (NMFS PIFSC); Matthew Parry, Kirsten Querbach (NMFS PIRO); Gordon Smith, Chris Swenson, Lorena Wada (USFWS); Beth Flint (USFWS-NWR); Forest Starr, Kim Starr (USGS); Robin Baird (Cascadia Research Collective); Kahu Charles Maxwell (kupuna); Dan Polhemus (Smithsonian Institution); Keoki Stender, John Hoover (photographers).

Additional thanks go to the following people for their role in moving the Strategy to its final stage by providing valuable feedback when requested or during the technical workshops, public open houses, or as part of the general open comment period: Melissa Bos, Athline Clark, Alton Miyasaka, Francis Oishi, Russell Sparks, , Mike Yamamoto (DAR); Mark Defley, Bill Evanson, Michelle Gorham, Lisa Hadway, Joe Fell McDonald (DOFAW); Dean Uyeno (DLNR Division of Water Resource Management); Noelani Puniwai (Hawai'i Biodiversity and Mapping Program); Richard Brock, Sheila Conant, Robert Cowie, David Duffy, Karla McDermid, Jennifer Smith, Heather Spalding (UH-Mānoa); Sara Peck (Sea Grant); Marc Lammers (HIMB, NMFS PIFSC CRED); Jean Kenyon (NMFS PIFSC CRED); Chris Yates (NMFS PIRO); Bud Antonelis, George Balazs, Dave Johnston, Kurt Kawamoto, Joe Laughlin, Brian Zyglciinski (NMFS PIFSC); Christine Brammer, David Matilla (NOAA NOS); Eric Brown, Darcy Hu, Raina Takumi (NPS); Phyllis Ha, Jim Maragos, Annie Marshall, Jay Nelson, Gina Schultz (USFWS); Mike Hawkes, Nancy Hoffman, Glynnis Nakai (USFWS-NWR); Diane Drigot (U.S. Marine Corps); The Honorable Alan Arakawa (Mayor of Maui); Lucius Eldredge, Neal Evenhuis, Richard Pyle, Robert Pyle, Jack Randall, (Bishop Museum); Alice MacKay, Annie Gorgone, Dan McSweeney (Cascadia Research Collective); Bill Gilmartin (Hawai'i Wildlife Fund); Mary James (Hilo Bay Watershed Advisory Group); Gary Hashizaki (Maui Casting Club); John Gorman (Maui Ocean Center); Donovan Keliipuleole (Molokai Fish Management Council); Sally Youngblood (North Shore-Oahu Outdoor Circle); Lucienne de Naie (Sierra Club)

Maui); Eric Co, Sam Gon, Kim Hum, Theresa Menard, Anne Rosa (TNC); Diana King (Waimea Valley Audubon Center); David Hamm (WesPacFin); RD Bartlett (Photographer); Hawai'i Conservation Alliance; Karl Carvalho, Paulo Kamakakehau, Doug Perrine (citizens); Robert Fenner (WetWebMedia.com); David Fukumoto (Fuku Bonsai Cultural Center); Rosemary Gillespie, Nipam Patel, Alivia Price (University of California, Berkeley); Jerry Kane (smugmug.com); Jan Ostman-Lind (marine mammalogist); Arthur Reed (UH-Mānoa retired); Stuart Robbens (TsunamiVolunteer.net); Sebastian Tröeng (Caribbean Conservation Co.); all who attended the public open houses.

The SAWCS Advisory Panel consisted of Robin Baird, Bill Gilmartin, John Gorman, Dave Gulko, Gary Hashizaki, Don Heacock, Skippy Hau, Kahu Charles Maxwell, Jim Maragos, Matthew Parry, Jeff Walters, Mike Yamamoto, Chris Yates, and The Nature Conservancy. They gave extra time and effort in meeting and reviewing all stages of the SAWCS.

Mahalo again to all interested citizens and others who participated by contacting DLNR through emails, phone, mail, and fax to express interest or provide comment on Hawaii's SAWCS and CWCS, and our deepest apologies to anyone not mentioned by name.